Music Director & Permanent Conductor / Leonard Yui-Biau Hou

Professor Hou is known as a pioneer of wind instrumentalists in Taiwan for his management and innovation of the TSB. He has been leading the TSB for almost two decades and has conducted over 100 concerts around Taiwan, Japan, US and Thailand. Professor Hou's music background includes a successful career as a horn player and he was awarded both performance and conductor degrees by Incarnate World College in Texas, USA. After his resignation from the principle horn position of the Taipei Symphony Orchestra, he focused his career on conducting. For seven consecutive years, he has led the TSB on a series of tour concerts around Taiwan. Through his efforts, the TSB has become a professional wind orchestra and won high recognition by both government and audiences. The Council for Culture of Taiwan recognized the TSB as an Outstanding Music Group in 1997, affirming Hou's contribution.
