Resident Island Dance Theatre x Maylis Arrabit

There are only a few texts of the male wheelchair dancer as following words and it's in the beginning of the dance:

Am I going to sell the lottery today?
There is no one on the street...
Someone is coming! Are they buying any lottery?
No, they are just passing by...
Do I need to open the shop tomorrow?
Will there be any guests tomorrow?
Can I buy something for my family tomorrow?
It's already been three months since the lockdown...
What should I do? What can I do?

(After a pause moment and he moves to another spot)
Coffee is the beginning of my day, looking forward to my new day, waiting for me to read the book I bought three months ago, and then tidying up the room.
And then...what should I do?
I have already read the book 8 times, and the room was cleaned yesterday...
Or maybe, I could check the world map in my collection again...

It will be our pleasure and great help if you leave us a feedback, please scan the QR code and answer some very simple questions:
